Below we provide detailed information on: what are "cookies", what type this website uses, how you can disable them in your browser and how to specifically block the installation of third-party cookies.

1) WHAT ARE COOKIES?

Cookies are small text files generated by the web pages that the User visits, which contain session data that may be useful later on the web page. The data allows the web page to maintain its information between pages, and also to analyze how you interact with the site.

Cookies are safe as they can only store the information that was put in place by the browser, the information that the User had entered in the browser or that is included in the page request. They cannot execute code and cannot be used to access the User's computer.

Cookies are essential for the functioning of the Internet, providing countless advantages in the provision of interactive services, facilitating the navigation and usability of web pages. Cookies cannot damage equipment and being activated helps identify and resolve errors.

The information collected through cookies may include the date and time of visits to the Website, the pages viewed, the time spent on the Website and the sites visited just before and after it. However, no cookie allows it to contact the User's phone number or any other means of personal contact. No cookie can extract information from the User's hard drive or steal personal information. The only way for the User's private information to be part of the Cookie file is for the User to personally provide this information to the server.

Cookies that allow a person to be identified are considered personal data. Therefore, the Privacy Policy described above will apply to them. In this sense, for the use of the same, the consent of the User will
